Two nationally known home economists, more than $5,000 in prizes and a fall fashion show will be highlights of the 33rd annual Gettysburg Times Cooking School which will open next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Gettysburg High School auditorium.

The fashion show will be held in connection with the Wednesday evening session of the Cooking School and 6:45 p.m. will be the starting hour that evening.

The final session on Thursday evening will open at 7:30 o'clock and a feature of that evening will be the awarding of grand prizes, headed by a $399 refrigerator.

CONSTITUTION IS THEME FOR DAR PROGRAM

Adoption of the U. S. Constitution marked a peaceful revolution accomplished without bloodshed, Dr. Bruce W. Bugbee, assistant professor of history at Gettysburg College, told the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution Friday at its meeting in the home of Mrs. John Foy, Country Club Lane.

Speaking on "The Constitution from the Convention to the Civil War," Dr. Bugbee said that America "invented the written constitution" when the 55 delegates from 12 states sat down to write the constitution designed to replace the Articles of Confederation.

Because they realized that the constitution represented a great change from the loose confederation and established a stronger central government the delegates sought to keep their actions in great secrecy until the entire constitution was completed and could be revealed to the public.

ADOPT BUDGET

Its writing was accompanied by much discussion and dissension among the delegates. Only 39 of the 55 present signed it. Dr. Bugbee also noted that "a new group" wrote the constitution. Only six of the men who signed the Declaration of Independence were present to sign the Constitution.

Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, regent of the local DAR, presided at the meeting. Mrs. William Hennig, finance chairman, presented a budget for the coming year, which was adopted.

Mrs. Donald Oyler, corresponding secretary, read a proposed change in the state bylaws which would permit the naming of six regional directors instead of the present three. If the change is approved, Gettysburg will be in the South Central District. The local chapter gave its approval to the change which will be voted upon at Harrisburg at the state convention in November.

OPPOSE PEACE CORPS

Mrs. George Good, chairman of the program committee, outlined programs for the year. She also introduced the speaker at Friday's meeting.

Mrs. Raymond F. Sheely read the national DAR's national defense report in the absence of Mrs. Harold Reuning. The report showed the national committee opposed to the Peace Corps because of lack of proper planning for the corps and because it will take the "cream of the crop" of young people out of the country for several years.

TO TOUR 'FIELD

Mrs. P. J. McGlynn reported that Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has become a member of the local chapter, transferring her membership from the York office.

Report U.S. Is Changing Its Policy On West Berlin

EDITOR'S NOTE — Is the U.S. developing a new policy toward the two Germanys. John Hightower, Pulitzer prize-winning AP diplomatic correspondent, gives a penetrating analysis of the thinking in Washington.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
NEW YORK (AP) — Officials said today that United States policy on Berlin and the future of Germany stands unchanged, but evidence increased that some kind of new and more elastic approach to a settlement of the Berlin crisis may be developing.

The key to the situation seems to lie in the next moves to be made by Soviet Premier Khrushchev. If he indicates to the Western powers that he is ready to agree to a compromise way out of the war-threatening dispute, he seems likely to find the West willing to consider a number of changes. If he tries to dictate the terms of settlement, however, the West

Refuse Kennedy Request To Hold Price Of Steel

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Major U.S. steel producers have given President Kennedy a unanimous "no" to his request for a pledge to hold the steel price line.

They didn't say they would boost prices, but most disputed his contention that they could absorb a coming increase in wage payments and still record ample profits.

The Cape Cod White House released replies of seven companies to the President's letter of Sept. 6 to a dozen leading manufacturers. The other five—U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Jones & Laughlin, Republic and Colorado Fuel & Iron—previously responded.

In effect, steel executives who offered any comment suggested government policies were more of an inflationary factor than industry policies. They also cited economic pressures for a raise in prices.

M. A. Cudlip, president of McCraith Steel Corp., made no comment. He simply said he had received the President's letter.

"I CAN"

When trouble's weight hangs heavy . . . and there are things to solve . . . I set about my problems . . . with purpose and resolve . . . with faith and hope and with a prayer . . . I strive to straighten out . . . the things which tend to worry me . . . and loom as paramount . . . it matters not how hard the task . . . not once do I maintain . . . that it's beyond accomplishment . . . although it's quite a strain . . . this, I know, would surely be . . . the beginning of the end . . . not only that, but I have . . . my conscience to defend . . . I never make a failure . . . part of any plan . . . I try and try and try again . . . knowing that I can.

To Conduct Fashion Show

MARIS DOESN'T LIKE FENWAY

BOSTON (AP) — Any home runs Roger Maris hits at Fenway Park in the two-game series between Boston and New York, starting today, will come as a welcome surprise to the Yankee slugger.

Maris, always honest with himself as with others, privately would prefer to be playing anywhere but at Fenway Park. He thinks the park will be a handicap to him in his effort to top Babe Ruth's 60 home runs in one season. The blond belter has hit 59. He has seven games left in which to top the Babe.

Never a haven for left-handed hitters because of the distant wall in right center, Fenway Park is especially rough in September because of the prevailing winds blowing in from that sector at this time of the year.

Actually, Maris is looking beyond these two games here. He plays his last five games at Yankee Stadium where he has socked 28 of his 59 home runs. The opposition will be Baltimore two games and Boston three.

Should Maris reach 61 homers, Ruth's record will remain but Roger will have a record never, theless — most home runs in a 162-game season.

Buffalo, Colonels In 'Little' Series

Louisville won the American Association playoff finals Thursday night.

Plan Home "Ec" Programs For Year In County: Adams County's home economics groups are getting underway for another year, with the annual fall local leaders' meeting, which opens the seasonal programs, scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Adams Electric Cooperative, rear of North Stratton street.

Last year approximately 350 county women attended the sessions of the 13 groups established under the sponsorship of the Adams County Agricultural Extension association throughout the county and it is hoped that an even larger number of women will take advantage of the groups this year.

Sheads Heads Local Crusade For "Freedom": Lawrence M. Sheads, Chambersburg street, senior investigator for the department of Public Instruction and Training for Veterans, Harrisburg, has been named Adams county Volunteer chairman for the second annual nationwide Crusade for Freedom. Announcement that Sheads had accepted the post was made today by Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia realtor and president of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce. Greenfield is serving as Pennsylvania chairman of the Crusade for Freedom drive which officially opened today with a national goal of $3,500,000.

Bircher Sells Philly Airport: To Build Homes: Richard Bircher's Boulevard Airport in Philadelphia, from which stems the Boulevard airport here, has been sold to make way for an 800-home building development.

Sale of the Philadelphia airport may result in the transfer of various sales agencies for light planes, held by Bircher, to the local airport.

The oldest airport in Philadelphia, the Boulevard airport will close with the auction of the nine hangars there on October 4. The hangars range from one-plane structures to one housing 17 planes.

Gettysburg On Two Tours For Pennsy Week: Historical tours of east southern Pennsylvania, to focus statewide attention on historic spots of this section, have been mapped for Pennsylvania Week, October 15 to 21. Secretary of Commerce Andrew J. Sordani announced today.

The trips, each requiring less than a day for completion, were planned in cooperation with the State Department of Commerce by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission whose executive director, Dr. Donald A. Cadzow, said similar tours also are being prepared for more distant areas of the state.

Although four separate tours have been outlined for the east-south-central section, the commission's historian, Dr. S. K. Stevens, made it clear that these itineraries "do not pretend to cover all points of historical and scenic interest in the eight counties through which they lead."

Today's Talk

THE WHYS AND WHEREFORES

The man of power is the man who knows. And knows why he knows.

The whys and wherefores are stamped upon the very brain of such a man. He has gone to the bottom of things. He does nothing by halves. He finds out.

The salesman who knows his whys and wherefores sells. He impresses his prospective customer and makes him believe that he wants to buy. He buys, so long as he knows his subject, the listener finds him interesting and instructive.

Thoroughness and efficiency are becoming rarer and rarer qualities in the work of the ordinary worker. But they are being sought after more than ever by the man of action, by the builder and by the man who does big things.

The whys and the wherefores are the stones—building stones—that hold up the great structures of the world.

If you don't know and want to know, find out yourself. Don't ask someone else. The things which you dig out of the earth of knowledge yourself belong to you. You can then give of what you have to whom you please and at any time.

I once read the story of a great surgeon who used his spare time, no matter where he was, in studying minutely the flowers and birds of the section where he found himself. He later became an authority on botany and nature and was the member of many noted scientific societies.

There is nothing more inspiring than new knowledge, new facts, new whys and new wherefores.

The more you know the more you appreciate, and the deeper becomes your appreciation of things both great and small.

Just Folks

A FATHER'S THOUGHT

They must go out in years to come

To tasks which leave the fingers numb;

To weariness and failure's sting, And all the hurts which life can bring.

They must go out, perhaps alone To face the world which I have known.

And never do I see them smile But what I sense that after while, That certain day that is to be, When life shall summon them from me

And set them single-handed To the tasks which it would have them do.

And that hour is my constant care,

The nightly burden of my prayer: "Lord, teach me wisdom! Teach me how

To fit them for Thy purpose now, When they to duty must submit, God grant that I shall have them fit!"

FOREIGN AID

BILL MAY BE HARD HURDLE

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign aid remains the toughest problem for Congress to settle before adjournment.

Senators and House members already were drifting away from Washington as leaders on both sides passed the word they were determined to close down the first session of the 87th Congress Saturday night.

Senate House conferees held their first sessions on the foreign aid bill Thursday and broke up in flat disagreement without even fixing a meeting time for today. But they were expected to get together by this afternoon.

CONFEREES DEMUR

The Senate passed a $4,196,600,000 bill while the House voted $539 million less. House conferees Thursday demurred strongly against accepting compromise figures close to the Senate version.

The controversial bill to ease the tax burden on Du Pont Co. stockholders who might receive General Motors stock in a divestiture proceeding comes up for Senate debate today.

But chances for final action on this session appeared slim. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he would put it over until January if prolonged controversy developed.

The House passed the bill Tuesday night and the Senate Finance Committee cleared it in a late session Wednesday night.

PUT DU PONT BILL ASIDE

Mansfield warned that he would have to put the Du Pont bill aside for action on the remaining appropriations bills necessary to run the government in the current financial year.

One of these, a $3.6 billion public works measure carrying funds for flood control, rivers and harbors, and reclamation projects, was to be bought up today.

The last money bill, a catch-all supplemental measure, was to be voted on in the Senate Appropriations Committee today, and taken up on the floor Saturday.

Both of these still will have to go to conference with the House. Congress Thursday completed action on President Kennedy's Peace Corps bill.

Pleads Innocent In Wife, Dad Slaying

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Fred Margarelli, 17, of Crabtree, has pleaded innocent in the slaying of his 19-year-old pregnant wife and her father.

Margarelli entered his plea Thursday before Justice of the Peace Louis Festa and was returned to the Westmoreland County Jail to await grand jury action on murder charges.

Margarelli is charged with shooting his wife, Judy, and her father, Elmer Shepler, 41, during a quarrel at the Shepler home Wednesday.

Allenberry Plays Comedy

"Under The Yum Yum Tree," a popular comedy success last season on Broadway, opens Monday night at the Allenberry Playhouse.

The comedy begins when an innocent but overeducated young woman sublets a San Francisco apartment from a teacher-friend.

is in love with a clean-cut,

upstanding young lawyer. But she thinks that before marrying they ought to test their compatibility by sharing the apartment for a few weeks — platonically, of course. Skeptically, the lawyer agrees.

The situation becomes amusingly complicated when a fun-loving eavesdropper, the landlord who inhabits the apartment next door, finds his new young-lady tenant very appealing. From the moment the comical landlord appears, bleary-eyed, and clad in a red sweater and red socks, he uses every means at his disposal to intrude on the couple next door.

The landlord is played by Chet Leaming, who has played Allenberry on several occasions, and Nancy Donohue plays the innocent young woman.

BUFFALO AND BOSTON CLASH

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boston and Buffalo, a couple of clubs known for their inconsistent play, clash at Buffalo Saturday night to get a busy weekend underway in the American Football League.

The big doings come Sunday when the only undefeated teams in the field — San Diego and Houston — battle at San Diego.

The Boston-Buffalo melee could be a sizzler. Boston lost to New York 21-20 but Buffalo whipped New York 41-31. Yet Boston lashed Denver 45-17 and Denver toppled Buffalo 22-10.

These games are the reason Buffalo and Boston are tied with New York for second place in the Eastern Division with 1-1 records. Three games are scheduled Sunday afternoon, featured, of course, by the Houston-San Diego clash. This one should establish the league's championship favorite.

Dallas (0-1) meets Oakland (0-2) at Oakland while Denver and New York both 1-1 get together at New York.

SOCIALITES

PLAY "EXTRAS" IN FILM SCENE

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Socialites nursed aching feet playing $25 fancy dress movie extras on the floodlit terrace of a magnificent Washington estate.

Bars served only soft drinks as Hollywood sought Thursday night to capture a Washington party for a big scene in the movie "Advise and Consent."

Producer Otto Preminger brought back to life unentertained "Tregaron," the famed estate of the late Joseph E. Davies, one-time U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union.

SOBER SO LATE

One guest wistfully looked at his watch after the party was under way a good two hours and signed "never have I been so sober so late at a typical Washington party."

"When are they going to serve dinner?" inquired a glamorous matron as 9:30 p.m. rolled around and the producer was still rolling watch after the party was under the cameras.

The caterer, who serves many a Washington dinner, set up his operation in the garage. No one ate until 10 p.m. and the black tie and evening gowned guests stood aside for the movie crew, which took chow line priority.

TIERNEY IS STAR

"Cha, cha, cha" and "have fun" came the director's orders. And society band leader Meyer Davis provided the beat.

Actress Gene Tierney, playing the party hostess in the movie, flitted amid the crowded dance-floor in flowing black chiffon.

Preminger partially refurbished fabulous 24-room, 10-bath Tregaron and made a deal with Davies' daughters, Mrs. Millard Tydings and Mrs. E. Fontaine Brown, to provide the 400 socialite guests. The standard $25 movie fee paid each "extra" will be donated to the school of nursing of Washington Hospital Center. The guests were invited to come at 7 p.m. and contracted to remain at least six hours.

Warriors End Losing Ways With 33-0 Triumph Over Scrappy Bermudian Squad

Victory-starved Gettysburg High School won its first football game in 14 tries Friday evening when it easily outclassed an undermanned Bermudian Springs squad, 33-0, before 1,000 fans at Kurtz field here.

The second time the Warriors held the ball offensively they scored, and Bermudian actually never did threaten. Throwing only four passes and completing two, including one for a touchdown, Gettysburg was able to rack up 17 first downs and 260 yards on the ground, including a 64-yard punt return by able Jimmie McClell.

Although stepping down in class to snap their 13-game losing streak, the victory was very gratifying to the Warriors. It marked the first time a Warrior team scored more than one touchdown since its last previous victory, a 12-6 victory over Waynesboro in October, 1959. The point total was the largest rolled up by a Gettysburg team since 1953 when the Warriors whipped Hanover 41-13.

Bermudian, with only 30 players on its entire squad, was hurt by several key injuries early in the tilt. Three of these boys were removed to the Warner Hospital and Coach Dean Becker had to dig deep for replacements.

The Warriors, helped along with some shoddy tackling by the Eagles, were able to move the ball almost at will, and several times during the evening, the crowd was brought to its feet by outstanding plays.

After Bermudian was forced to punt early in the contest, Gettysburg fell back to its old trick immediately when, on the first play from scrimmage, a Gettysburg back fumbled, and Al Hoke recovered to put the Eagles on their own 37. But Gettysburg braced and, after Charlie Gembe punted again, they were on their way.

Thirteen plays, all on the ground, enabled them to move to the Eagles' 1-yard line where Dick Utz barreled over with 4:40 left in the first quarter giving the Warriors a 6-0 lead. Paul Plank's kick for the point was wide.

Following the score, Bermudian lost a fumble to Paul Plank on the Eagles' 27. After a first down, play moved into the second quarter, but Gettysburg was forced to relinquish the ball on down at the 7-yard line.

Bermudian then switched into a short single-wing offense and moved to two consecutive first downs, one coming on a nifty Tom Hardy to Craig Hoke pass which Hoke caught over his shoulder after a leap. Both backs played a bang-up game for the Eagles, and perhaps with a little more line support would have made things tougher for Gettysburg. The Eagles' drive fizzled out after a 15-yard penalty, however, and a fumbled pitchout by Hoke gave the visitors' possession on the visitors' 33.

A end-run pass picked up six yards, and three running plays put the ball on the 10. On third down, versatile Paul Plank ripped up the middle, shook loose from two would-be tacklers, and scored handily to make the count 13-0. Plank's placement added the extra point.

KUYKENDALL SCORES

With less than four minutes remaining in the half Gettysburg came right back to score again following Bermudian's punt. McClell picked up 20 yards running on a pass-run option play, followed by a yard plunge by Plank. On second down, Tom Duane fired a look-in pass to sub end Tom Kuykendall who cut to the right side line and easily outdistanced two Eagles' players, Plank again added the placement making the halftime score 20-0.

Gettysburg was forced to punt its lone time of the evening on the first series after the half and Jim Davies got off a booming 49-yarder which set Bermudian back to its 11-yard line. Following a 24-yard return punt by Gembe, Gettysburg's second string took over. The big play toward their fourth TD was a 38-yard scamper by sophomore Joe Riley who went off right tackle, cut back to the middle, shook off two Bermudian boys, and was finally brought down by Tom Hardy on the four-yard line. On the second play, Davies, on an option, scored easily around the right side. Larry Mickley's left tackle slant gave the Warriors a 27-0 lead with 2:50 remaining in the third quarter.

McCLELL RACES 64

The Warriors' final and most electrifying score came about one minute later when Charlie Gembe got off a 30-yard boot which McClell fumbled on his own 35. In attempting to pick up the ball on the 36, he sidestepped two on-charging Eagles and cut to the right side. Two key blocks sent him down the sideline where another block enabled him to out-scrap two more Eagle defenders for a 64-yard jaunt. A run for the extra counter failed and Gettysburg held a 33-0 edge.

The last period saw reserves from both benches and both teams moved rather well offensively. The Warriors drove to the seven only to relinquish the pigskin on downs while Bermudian, with Hardy, Bricker and Hoke alternating, passed for a couple of first downs.

Statisticwise, Bermudian completed nine passes for 53 yards but several were of the short look-in variety, which, when completed, netted only a few yards. The Eagles were able to net only 32 yards on the ground due to a hard charging Warrior line led by Paul Plank.

Next Friday the Warriors travel to Chambersburg to meet the unbeaten Trojans. Bermudian has an open date.

GIANTS SPOIL REDS CLINCHER WITH SHUTOUT

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer—The San Francisco Giants, playing the spoiler role in the National League, beat Cincinnati 6-0 Friday night behind Billy O'Dell's eight-hitter and temporarily stalled the Reds' drive to their first pennant in 21 years.

The loss trimmed the Reds lead over the second-place Dodgers to four games and kept their magic pennant-clinching number at four. Los Angeles whipped St. Louis 6-3 to close the gap, Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia by the same score, Chicago at Milwaukee was postponed.

Jose Pagan, a .255 hitter, drove in three runs for the Giants with a single and double, while Chuck Hiller, batting .236, sent in a pair with a single. That was more than enough for O'Dell, (6-5), who gave up a hit in every inning except the sixth, but turned back each threat.

PURKEY IS CHASED

Bob Purkey (16-12) gave up two runs in the second on a walk to Orlando Cepeda, a double by Jim Davenport and Pagan's two-run single, then was chased in the third when the Giants scored on Willie McCovey's run-producing single.

The Dodgers went ahead against the Cards with three runs in the third on three walks by loser Ray Sadecki (14-9), a sacrifice fly by Gil Hodges, Ron Fairly's single, a passed ball and an error on a Duke Snider pop-up. They clinched it in the fourth against Bob Miller on Maury Wills' single and doubles by Jim Gilliam and Wally Moon.

Don Drysdale (11-9), tagged for homers by Bill White and Earl Savatski, picked up the out needed Ron Perranoski's relief over the final three.

ORIOLE FAN WORRIES OVER HOME RUN BALL

BALTIMORE (AP) — Now the pressure is beginning to bother Bob Reitz, the Baltimorean who caught the ball Roger Maris hit Wednesday night for home run No. 59.

Maris, the New York Yankee slugger, revealed Friday that the strain of chasing Babe Ruth's elusive 34-year-old record of 60 homers in one season had caused tufts of hair on his head to fall out.

Reitz, 32, an unemployed machine operator, hasn't reached that stage. But he said he was unable to sleep Thursday night and Friday he smoked six packs of cigarettes.

Just before going to bed early Friday night because of a headache, Reitz received a $1,000 offer to ponder.

OTHER OFFERS

Reitz said only that the offer came from a Glen Burnie, Md., resident, who wanted the ball for a private collection.

Thursday, a $500 offer was made by Daniel L. Wagner of Miami, Fla., who sent a telegram to Memorial Stadium, home of the Baltimore Orioles, addressed to: "The Man Who Caught the Ball that Roger Maris Hit."

At Memorial Stadium Wednesday night, Reitz rejected an offer to exchange the ball for another one autographed by Maris.

And Thursday, Reitz reportedly turned down two tickets to each of the World Series game in New York, two tickets to Sunday's Baltimore Colts-Detroit Lions football game, two tickets to a sports banquet here next January (which Maris will attend), and $100 in cash.

The offer was made by a local lumber dealer.

Mail to Reitz concerning his action has been evenly divided.

"Stick to your guns," one writer said. "If it's worth $25, it's worth $5,000 or more."

Another wrote, "If Roger Maris had good sense, he'd tell you (what to do with the ball)."

GEORGIA TECH EASILY BEATS SOUTHERN CAL.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Not since 1929 had Georgia Tech's Ramblin' Wrecks played football in the Los Angeles area. But it was no different Friday night as they came through with a 27-7 victory over Southern California.

In their last appearance in Southern California 32 years ago, the Engineers edged California 3-7 in the Rose Bowl.

Georgia Tech, with second-string quarterback Billy Lofthide starting and ending the scoring with first and fourth period field goals, took a commanding half-time lead with three touchdowns in the second quarter.

Most of the major teams go into action today, and most of them face rugged engagements. The televised game of the day is the Mississippi-Arkansas encounter—ABC-TV 3:30 p.m. EST—at Jackson, Miss. Mississippi State and Texas meet on the same field tonight.

TWO TOP TEAMS IDLE

Two of the really big fellows—Iowa and Ohio State, picked 1-2 in The Associated Press preseason poll—are idle.

Syracuse, ranked No. 10 in the preseason poll, takes on Oregon State at Portland, Texas. Southwestern Conference choice and rated No. 4, meets the California Golden Bears, and Tulane faces Stanford.

Purdue is at Washington in what looms as an even battle, and Maryland is given a very small edge over SMU in a night game at Dallas. Kansas, a Big Eight power, meets TCU, also at night, and Utah invades the Big Ten to do battle with Wisconsin.

Washington State is the underdog against power-laden Missouri, and North Carolina State figures to have its hands full at Wyoming.

LSU, Southeastern Conference favorite, is no better than an even choice in its night game with Rice at Houston. Army figures to have the edge over Richmond on their game at West Point.

In one of the East's big games, Navy's light, generally inexperienced team meets Penn State with the encounter expected to provide some clue on just how powerful are the Nittany Lions who are a decided favorite.

GRAND PRIX TODAY

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP) — Some of the nation's top sports car drivers will compete today in the 14th annual Watkins Glen Grand Prix classic.

A crowd of close to 30,000 is expected to watch 34 entrants start the 44-lap, 101.2-mile race.

The course covers 2.3 miles of hilly land around this tiny Finger Lakes resort town.

Joe Riley (18), Gettysburg High sophomore, is shown picking up yardage against Bermudian Springs here Friday evening as the Warriors triumphed 33-0. Ken Kime (51) is leading as a blocker. In the background, left to right, are Jan Zeigler (70), Bermudian; Don Miller (13) and Dan Heagy (54), of Gettysburg; Albert Hoke (63), Craig Hoke (16) and Larry Bobb (50) of Bermudian. Long TD Play In Final Minutes Gives Rockets 12-7 Win Over L-town

A stunning 77-yard touchdown pass-play with 3:30 minutes remaining in the game gave Spring Grove a thrilling 12-7 victory over the Littlestown High Thunderbolts in a Laurel Conference game played before about 1,600 fans on Memorial Field at Littlestown Friday evening.

The defeat was a crusher for the Bolts in their drive to repeat as conference champions.

Ron Lawhead's team held a scant 7-6 lead going into the late minutes of the game.

Following a Littlestown punt and a 15-yard penalty against Spring Grove, the Rockets had possession of the ball on their 23. After a running play failed, Ross Welsh, quarterback, pitched back to John Trimmer who circled to his right. Trimmer stopped, fired a diagonal pass to Welsh who sprinted around left end and grabbed the ball on the 30 from where he streaked the remaining 70 yards for the winning tally.

Trimmer's placement for the point was low and to the side.

BOLT RALLY FAILS

The fighting Bolts tried desperately to pull the game from the fire in the waning moments and reached the Spring Grove 36 but Welsh intercepted a pass by Eddie Koonitz to smother the threat.

Spring Grove dominated play early in the first half. Late in the opening quarter the Rockets made a sustained 36-yard march, including a 30-yard reverse by Ron Mummert, to reach Littlestown's 17 but fumbled with the Bolts taking over.

Littlestown was soon forced to punt and Trimmer raced back 13 yards to the Bolt 27 from where Spring Grove drove for an early second-quarter score. Three plays gained but four yards as the determined Bolts dug in but on the next play Welsh fired a pass to Trimmer at the 18 from where the latter sped over. Rod Sponseller broke through to block Trimmer's placement for the point.

Littlestown fought back valiantly during the remainder of the second period. Once the Bolts got to the Rockets' 28 before being stopped and just before the half ended were halted by Gary Wildasin's interception at the 23.

Late in the third period Littlestown got underway to pave the way for an early score in the final period. Koonitz streaked 49 yards to the Spring Grove 35 but the drive stalled with the Rockets taking over on the 27.

SELBY RECOVERS

On the next play Don Selby recovered a fumble on the Spring Grove 31. Two plays later Ted Bortner broke away on a 25-yarder to the one-yard line and on the next play went into the end zone. Koonitz added the point on a plunge to give Littlestown a 7-6 advantage.

A backfield-in-motion penalty cost the Bolts a score with approximately five minutes left when Bud Ecker streaked 49 yards around left end for an apparent touchdown. A short time later Littlestown was forced to punt after which Spring Grove moved for its come-from-behind victory.

The Thunderbolts outgained their opponents 10 first downs to four. They completed four of eight aerials and had two intercepted. Spring Grove completed three of seven passes and also had two stolen.

Next Friday Littlestown, 1-2, meets West York in another conference game at Littlestown.

Poultry Flocks Can Be Culled Fast With Hurdle

By FRANK S. SETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

When large flocks are to be culled, use of a culling hurdle speeds up the job considerably.

The hurdle consists of several panels covered with poultry netting. Frames of these panels may be made of wood, iron pipe, or other material. Panels may be hinged together in two or more sections for use in rooms of varying sizes.

Some poultrymen use poultry netting along to fence off a corner of the pen. Some enclose the area underneath the dropping board to confine the hens. But this means getting under the boards and using a catching hook. This sometimes results in smothering some fowls in solid corners where they crowd from fright.

SKILL AND SPEED

Some poultrymen have developed great skill and speed handling hens to be culled in this manner. On one farm two men remove the culs from 1,000 Leghorns in an hour, but do not handle all the birds. These men cull in the daytime. They say the job can be done more accurately and more rapidly by daylight. Hens must be handled carefully, so after several such culling sessions they get accustomed to it and do not seem to mind the interruption to their daily routine.

Dairy cows have a high requirement for nutrients immediately after freshening. Thus, it is important to place them on full-grain feeding as soon as possible after calving.

INCREASE GRAIN RATION

When animals are fed good amounts of grain just prior to freshening they are more likely to eat it well right after calving. Gradually increase the grain ration for dry cows until about 10 to 14 pounds per head daily is reached by seven to 10 days prior to expected freshening. Continue feeding at this level through three days following calving. Then increase at the rate of one to two pounds daily until 16 to 25 pounds per head daily is attained for most cows, regardless of their current or past production history.

Ube appetite as the major guide feeding during this critical period of 60 to 90 days following calving. If the grain fed is not eaten at a rate of one pound per two minutes, or appreciable amounts are refused, reduce grain feeding by 50 per cent for several feedings, or skip a feeding to keep appetite sharp.

FED AS EXCEPTIONS

There are sometime several cows who are more susceptible to mastitis on heavy grain feeding. These cows may be fed as exceptions to the general rules above. However, do not shortchange 80 to 90 per cent of the cows for the sake of a few exceptional individuals.

Dairymen should not reduce the amount of grain fed until certain the cow has reached peak production for the lactation period. If her production warrants, feed more grain than suggested. In fact, always try to lead her production by feeding two pounds of grain daily beyond production needs until the cow has peaked.

This method of feeding has improved health and production in many herds. Less trouble is sometimes encountered from udder congestion or edema, early-lactation mastitis, acetoneemia or ketosis, milk fever, and certain breeding problems. When improved health results it undoubtedly stems from less stress and greater resistance obtained through good feeding and the prevention of excessive weight loss.

MITES CAN BE NUISANCE

Cool September weather may start the migration of clover mites from the lawn into the house. These mites are usually most bothersome during late fall and early spring. They are reddish-brown in color with comparatively long front legs. They are tiny, but still large enough to be easily seen.

Tremendous numbers of these mites may collect on the side of the house. Some work their way inside through tiny cracks around the doors and windows. They actually cause no damage to food, fabrics or furniture in the home—they're merely a nuisance. New homes or housing developments seem to be the hardest hit by the mites.

Clover mites feed on grasses, clover, and some weeds. Newly established, well-fertilized lawns provide conditions which are very favorable for the development of these mites.

To prevent the mites from entering your house spray or sprinkle

JOSE FERRERS TO BE DIVORCED

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In a development that caught most of the film colony by surprise, legal representatives of Rosemary Clooney confirmed Friday that the singer plans to seek a divorce from her academy award-winning husband, Jose Ferrer.

Ferrer, the versatile actor-director best known for his movie portrayal of Cyrano de Bergerac in 1950, married Miss Clooney eight years ago. They have five children.

Miss Clooney, 33, was not available for comment.

Ferrer, 49, was in Dallas, Tex., directing a remake of the movie "State Fair."

The marriage had long been regarded as one of Hollywood's happiest.

Close friends reportedly had detected mounting difficulties in the marriage in recent weeks.

The marriage was the first for the singer and the third for Ferrer. He formerly was the husband of Uta Hagen and Phyllis Hill.

The Ferrers' children are Miguel, 6; Maria, 5; Gabrielle, 4; Monsita, 3, and Rafael, 1.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Transportation of Dag Hammarskjöld's body from Rhodesia to Sweden has been postponed, the Swedish Foreign Ministry announced Friday, since a post-mortem will not be concluded until Sunday at the earliest. The body had been scheduled to arrive in Stockholm that day.

A national state funeral for the late U.N. secretary-general, killed in an African plane crash Monday, is planned at the ancient university city of Uppsala, 45 miles north of Stockholm, on next Friday.

KUKLA, OLLIE WILL RETURN TO TELEVISION

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A few years ago in the halcyon days of television, one of the joys for the adult, semi-literate-and-better viewer was a nightly puppet show called "Kukla, Fran and Ollie," which specialized in a rather sophisticated brand of wry, droll whimsy.

The attractive little show subsequently suffered the slings and arrows of low ratings and finally disappeared from the networks. Now, in one of the pleasant but puzzling events of the season, NBC is bringing it back.

In the black and white world of television thinking, it is ordained that puppet shows are for children. Hence, the new "Kukla and Ollie" returns next Monday as a daily show—and at an hour reserved for the little ones.

NBC obligingly provided reviewers with a preview of the first week's batch of programs. They are only five minutes long, including the commercials, and really don't give Kukla, Oliver J. Drag-on and Beulah Witch, to name a few of the delightful puppet regulars, to do much more than hit-and-run comedy. But it is still long enough to them to provide a bright spot in an adult's day, a moment of sharp satire, bright wit and topical comedy. But the hour is impossible—5-5:05 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, when most grownups are either just leaving the office or busy in the kitchen preparing dinner. This is a shame.

Recommended weekend viewing: "Saturday Night at the Movies," premiere, Saturday, NBC, 9-11—"How to Marry a Millionaire," with Marilyn Monroe and William Powell; "The Bullwinkle Show," premiere NBC, Sunday, 7-7:30; new animated cartoon series; "Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color," NBC premiere, Sunday, 7:30-8:30—weekly series debuts on new network with an animated cartoon show introducing a new Disney character.

MRS. FLORA LEISTER
TANEYTOWN — The Carroll County subleague of the Woman's League of Gettysburg College will meet Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Grace Lutheran Church at Westminster, Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide, president, has announced. Landon C. Burns, county agent, will show colored slides of his trip to Europe.

1 Killed, 4 Hurt In Auto Accident

SPANGLER, Pa. (AP)—Four teen-agers were in Miners Hospital today with injuries suffered in an auto crash that killed another teenager.

A car carrying the youths left the Cherry Tree-Westover Road eight miles north of this Cambria County town Thursday and crashed into a hillside, killing the driver, Virginia Bobik, 16, of Allport.

Hospitalized were Rose Marie Bonanno, 16, and Rosalie Bonanno, 16, both of Barnesboro, and Gary Warchock, 15, and Thomas Barkovich, 17, both of Emeigh.

Exchange Plan With Russians Has Collapsed

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—An important segment of the U.S.-Soviet exchange program has collapsed at least temporarily amid an exchange of accusations.

Scratched from the list of coming attractions were a Soviet medical exhibit scheduled for Oklahoma City, Okla., and an American transportation show slated for Moscow. Both were to open today.

In announcing their cancellation, the Russians protested about what they called State Department interference.

The State Department said cancellation of the Moscow show was in response to Russian foot dragging which for years has made it more difficult for American exchange projects in the Soviet Union.

EXORBITANT TERMS
The State Department had refused to allow the Soviets to go ahead with the Oklahoma City exhibit so long as the Russians failed to comply with a requirement for a U.S. government okay on contracts with American firms setting up the Russian exhibitions.

Also, the department said, the Reds were imposing exorbitant and unreasonable terms on the American exhibit in Moscow.

U.S. officials were particularly peeved about a $30,000 charge for five unwanted "liaison" men assigned to the U.S. exhibition, while the Russians refused to pay $5,000 for the one American liaison man assigned to the Soviet exhibit here.

Both exhibits originally were scheduled to last about three months, with the Soviet one moving on to Chicago and Minneapolis and American show to Kharkov.

Defer Sentencing Of State Officials

KITTANNING, Pa. (AP)—Sentencing of two former State Sanitary Water Board inspectors convicted on conspiracy charges has been deferred pending outcome of motions for a new trial.

A jury of 10 women and two men convicted Andrew DiEmidio of Johnstown and Joseph Yobaggy of Ebensburg Thursday on conspiracy charges. DiEmidio also was convicted on an extortion charge.

They were accused of conspiring to extort $700 from Mr. and Mrs. Perry Falester under threat of closing their strip mining operation in Valley Twp., in 1960. The Falesters also have been charged with conspiracy and bribery.

Don't waste time looking back. Your eyes are in front of your head.

BAR TO POLL ATTORNEYS ON ANNE ALPERN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Bar Association plans to poll its 4,500 members on whether they feel Anne X. Alpern is qualified to continue as a justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

An affirmative vote would, in effect, bind the association to support Miss Alpern against the Republican candidate, Judge Henry X. O'Brien of Allegheny County Common Pleas Court.

The plebiscite was decided upon by the 21-member judiciary committee of the association. In a letter which will be mailed to the members, association Chairman Vincent P. McDevitt says that the plebiscite is nonpolitical. The letter also cautions that it is "unethical to solicit votes in a plebiscite."

NAMED BY GOVERNOR

Miss Alpern was appointed to the state's highest court last month by Gov. Lawrence. She was then attorney general. The Democratic State Committee subsequently endorsed her for a full 21-year term on the court.

The Judiciary Committee discussed three points in deciding on the plebiscite. One was that Miss Alpern is a woman. This was dismissed as having nothing to do with her qualifications. She is the first of her sex to serve on the Coast-To-Coast On TV

"AMERICAN NEWSSTAND," a daily news program specifically directed at the young, late-afternoon television audience, will be presented over ABC-TV beginning Monday, October 2, (4:50-5 p.m., E.D.T.), it was announced by James C. Hagerty, ABC vice president in charge of news, special events and public affairs.

"We believe that a news program can be presented each day that is designed to appeal to young people," said Mr. Hagerty. "We will give daily emphasis to subjects that most interest young people, such as scientific achievements, educational opportunities, military service rules and regulations, Peace Corps programs and news of the entertainment world. We will never forget that young people are perhaps more interested in foreign affairs today than their parents, since the foreign events might affect them more directly," he added.

ALAN REED, the voice of Fred Flintstone says that when a boy has bright ideas, a girl doesn't need a light in the parlor!

PEGGIE CASTLE of "Lawman" tells of the old skunk who died so all the other skunks got together and sent over a sprav!

HENRY MORGAN of "I've Got A Secret" knows a man who's seen one English movie on TV so often that he's beginning to understand the dialogue!

BARRY SULLIVAN of "Tall Man" says get a gossip wound up and she'll run someone down!

TOM POSTON of "To Tell the Truth" says that when you fool with the stock market, it often ends with the stock market fooling you!

DIANA TRASK, who will be a featured vocalist with Mitch Miller's "Sing Along" programs, has been paged for an acting career. She has been signed to an exclusive contract with 20th Century Fox and the studio has big plans for her.

BEVERLY GARLAND, leading lady in many TV shows, has formed an independent film production company with her husband, Fillmore Crank, to produce both theatrical and TV films.

THE INVASION OF CUBA—up to the time of the Berlin crisis—was regarded as the number one news event of the year by David Brinkley of the Huntley-Brinkley Report on NBC-TV Monday through Friday nights. Also high on his list are the space shots in this country and Russia's orbiting of the earth by two different men. "Actually," says Brinkley, "so much headline news has been crammed into this year that it's extremely difficult to judge which had the most impact."

SOCIAL, RICH and beautiful are three words which go with the name of Dina Merrill. But that hasn't stopped her from becoming an outstanding actress who has been getting choice film roles as well as important engagements in TV.

Dina has appeared so often as a guest on "To Tell The Truth" that viewers have come to look upon her as a regular.

However, Diana in private life is an exceptionally busy woman and in her professional sphere she is also extremely active so she can't really tie herself down to one show.

Away from the audiences, Dina is Mrs. Stanley Rumbaugh Jr., mother of three lovely children. She is the daughter of E. P. Hutton of Wall St. Her mother is Mrs. Herbert May of the Post family.

Inmates will tell you that Dina is a gracious hostess with charm, good taste and humor.

In addition to all other activities, Dina takes daily lessons in voice and voice production and is on the board of directors for a number of charity organizations.

To tell the truth . . . she's terrific.

CHILDREN PREFER adult shows to shows especially designed for them.

That's the challenging conclusion of Bob Banner, head of one of TV's top producing companies which guides such shows as "The Garry Moore Show," "The Alan King Show," "Candid Camera" and several others.

"The youngsters have a lot more sophistication than their elders credit them with," contends Banner. "The minute children's shows start playing down to them with such as, 'Now, now kiddies,' they lose their audience."

"You watch the children's shows that are successful — 'Captain Kangaroo,' for example — and you'll find they present some amazingly adult ideas. This isn't anything new. Many of the children's classics are built on mature ideas, on adult satire. Take another look at 'Alice in Wonderland' or 'Gulliver's Travels' and you'll see what I mean. They have a double appeal to children and adults. The same thing was true of a lot of movies. The Mickey Rooneys and Judy Garlands were intended for kids, but the adults loved them."

PENNEY PARKER, the flapperish Maybelle of the new "Margie" series, finds herself being compared to Clara Bow. Members of the industry who worked with the famed "It" girl see in the auburn-tressed Penney the same personality and vitality that made Clara Bow a star in another era.

Recruiting New Talent, Big Concern Says Moore

GARRY MOORE, who is up to his famous bow-tie in work this season, remains relaxed and unharried in the midst of jam-tight schedules, day-long rehearsals, etc. "The Garry Moore Show" premieres Tuesday, Sept. 26, (10-11 p.m., CBS-TV).

"We've got some great shows coming up this year," Garry says, "With some really funny routines." Wearing slacks and a sport shirt, Garry sat in a quiet corner of the rehearsal hall with his feet propped up.

This "Come"-ish demeanor is in many ways only on the surface. We've come to know Garry very well in the past few years and can assure you that the outward calm is only a cover-up for many "deep running" concerns.

Garry himself admits to ten-vision which disturbs me most," Garry says, "is the lack of a training ground for new talent."

"Bob Banner, our producer, has felt the same way about it. It's one of our pet peeves. In order to keep television alive and vital in the future, you've got to pour fresh, new talent into it. But where is it going to come from if TV doesn't set up some sort of farm system such as they have in baseball?"

Garry and Bob note that in the old days there were vaudeville and large motion picture houses which featured stage shows plus night clubs to provide the experience needed by performers who hoped to go on to bigger things. Today, however, the fledglings have little room in which to spread their wings.

in cooperation with selected universities which will enable students to learn the field of TV production while earning their degrees. I think it's a great idea," comments Garry. "It'll give newcomers a chance to gain practical experience in TV production while completing their post-grad studies."

The way that "Garry's Gang" of the last few years is blossoming out may well be one of the reasons for his great concern about new talent.

In addition to his doing a five-times-a-week CBS radio show with Garry, Durwood Kirby has been signed to succeed Arthur Godfrey on "Candid Camera."

sion. "Although steeplejacks and circus aerialists and those who ply similarly precarious trades may well disagree," observes the star, "television is one of the most intense ways of making a living. And, appearances to the contrary, I tense up every time that little red light in the studio warns that we are about to go on the air. I never face a microphone but what my stomach muscles contract. I'm not an actor, but if I really appear relaxed on television as I'm told I do, that is acting!"

One of Garry's biggest concerns is the problem of recruiting new talent. "The one aspect of tele-

"Local radio stations," says Garry, "were a gold mine which networks avidly scouted to keep their staffs full of fresh, creative talent who had already acquired their basic training. And, as I mentioned, the farm system employed by baseball helps young talent mature and enter the big leagues. I think it's too bad that, for economic reasons, we haven't been able to see a similar development in television."

"In line with this idea, Bob Banner has come up with a project which he hopes to set into motion within the next year."

He's making plans now to set up a graduate fellowship program times-a-week CBS radio show substituting for Arthur Godfrey while he's away.

Bob Banner Associates, which produces the Garry Moore variety show, has also produced a pilot film starring Alan King which CBS-TV ran as a one-shot.

Garry's top writers, Coleman Jacoby and Arnie Rosen, are finishing a Broadway musical for Carol Burnett. It's scheduled to go into rehearsal next spring; tentatively titled "Charge Account."

Considering he hit the jackpot, in our estimation, in his choice of talent so far, his concern for the future is understandable.

SHOP TALK

When Connie Stevens and Ponce Ponce of "Hawaiian Eye" east hold a conference on the set, it's likely they're discussing business matters, not scripts. Connie owns a dress shop and real estate while Ponce operates a karate health studio and owns apartment buildings.

Climt Walker, in his starring role of Cheyenne Bodie, undertakes the task of saving the life and good reputation of a young cavalry officer in "Cross Purpose," the opening episode of the 1961-62 season — the fifth — for "The Cheyenne Show" Monday, September 25. Ty Hardin also returns to star as Bronco Layne in episodes for the new season.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
By MARSHALL TUCKEY
Good taste in meal planning follows the same good rule that applies to any art form: Never overdo! It is better to serve a few courses of well-prepared, tasty food, than elaborate and indifferently prepared quantity. No matter how many or how few courses are served, let each be perfectly cooked and served. Care should be taken to serve hot foods piping hot and those that are cold well chilled.

Coast To Coast On Television

THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD Jerry Mathers of "Leave It To Beaver" returned from his summer vacation in Hawaii with a surprise for co-producers Joe Connelly and Bob Mosher—he greeted them in a voice several tones deeper in pitch than the one he said goodbye with just a few weeks ago.

DICK CRENNNA considers Walter Brennan, his TV grandfather on "The Real McCoys," one of the finest method actors in Hollywood, although the three-time "Oscar" winner has never had a lesson in his life.

"When Walter plays Grandpa, not only does he think the part, he dresses it down to the last detail," Dick explains. "He wouldn't think of facing the camera without wearing the long john undies that Amos McCoy wears all year round under his coveralls, even if they don't show."

SCREEN GEMS, INC. which pioneered animated programming for TV when it brought Hanna-Barbera Productions into the medium in 1957, is about to add still another new technique to the repertoire of TV entertainment.

The company has just concluded a co-production arrangement with a group that has perfected a process by which life-like dolls can be made to move—on film—exactly like human beings, down to the most precise detail, from the wrinkles in the skin to the inflection of a finger. The process has been named Tri-Cinematic (combining motion in three dimensions on film).

Screen Gems is now developing comedy program series to be produced in the new process. It also plans to use Tri-Cinematic for information and education programs.

Steve Allen has written more than 2,000 songs, including "This Could Be the Start of Something," "Pretend You Don't See Her" and "Picnic."

Tasty Double Fudge Cake

Creamy, luscious chocolate frosting covers a fine textured chocolate cake, to provide a double treat for those in the chocolate cake-eating category.

Are you a chocolate fancier... a chocolate pie, a chocolate pudding, chocolate soufflé, chocolate sundae eater? Then this double fudge cake is for you!

The shortening used in this cake recipe is lard. It results in a fine textured, feathery-light cake. Lard is easy to use at any temperature, even when just taken from the refrigerator; therefore it can be creamed easily with sugar, an important step in successful cake making.

Lard also helps to keep cakes moist and fresh for a longer period. But you won't have to worry about that with a cake as tempting as this.

The first step in making this cake is to line two 8-inch cake pans with a double thickness of waxed paper. To prepare the cake batter, grate 3 ounces of unsweetened chocolate in a saucepan. Add ¼ cup boiling water and bring the mixture to a boil. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Set aside to cool.

Sift together 2 cups sifted cake flour, ¾ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon baking powder and ¾ teaspoon salt. Cream together ½ cup lard and 1½ cups sugar until light and fluffy. Add 2 eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flour mixture alternately with ½ cup sour milk, mixing thoroughly after each addition.

Stir in the cooled chocolate mixture and add 1 teaspoon vanilla, blending well. Pour batter into cake pans and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 25 to 30 minutes or until done. Cool and frost with Fudge Frosting.

To make the Fudge Frosting, grate 2 ounces of unsweetened chocolate into a saucepan and add ½ cups sugar, ½ cup milk, ¼ cup butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon corn syrup and ¼ teaspoon salt, mixing well. Bring to a boil and cook 2 minutes. Cool and beat until the mixture begins to thicken. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Spread the frosting between layers and on the cake. Swirl ¼ cup chopped nuts into frosting over top of cake.

Curried Pot Roast

Vegetables cooked with pot-roast take on an added flavor. Onions, green beans and sliced celery escort a curry-seasoned blade pot-roast to the table. Fluffy rice and sesame seed hard rolls are part of the menu.

More of the same—with a difference! Sometimes that is the puzzling problem a homemaker faces when she wants to give her family their favorite meat dishes often, yet avoid monotony in her menus.

For instance, there is the excellent standby, beef pot-roast. A pot-roast is a wise choice from the standpoint of economy and of the food value it contains. There are a number of beef cuts which make good pot-roasts. And it is easy to give this meat dish variety through the diversity of vegetables, herbs and spices cooked with it.

Among the cuts suitable for pot-roasts are those from the chuck—the blade and arm cuts—as well as some of the boneless ones. The blade contains portions of the rib and blade bones. The arm pot-roast is distinguished by the round bone and cross section of 3 to 5 ribs. Seasoning a pot-roast with curry powder gives a subtly different flavor. Combine 2 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1 teaspoon curry powder. Dredge the pot-roast with seasoned flour and brown in 3 tablespoons lard or drippings. Pour off drippings.

Add ½ cup water, cover tightly and simmer 2½ hours. Add 2 stalks celery, cut in 1-inch pieces, 12 small onions and 1 package (9 ounces) frozen cut green beans. Cover and continue cooking until the meat is tender and the vegetables done, about 45 minutes. Remove the meat and vegetables to a serving platter. Measure cooking liquid and add enough water to make 2 cups. Thicken the liquid with ¼ cup flour for gravy. A molded fruit salad and a simple dessert or sherbet and cookies would complete a satisfying meal.

Apple Turnovers Are Surprise Treat

Here is a tart treat your family is sure to enjoy—apple turnovers. The flaky, gold crust encloses apple slices spiced with cinnamon, a dessert which can make a feast of even the simplest meal.

The tender flakiness of the crust of these turnovers is part of their goodness, and the expert cook insures this by using lard as the shortening ingredient. Lard is easy to use even when just taken from the refrigerator. Pastry made with ard browns to a golden hue.

Pastry for the turnovers is prepared as for a pie crust. Mix 2 cups sifted enriched flour and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut ½ cup lard into the flour until the crumbs are about the size of small peas. Add 5 to 6 tablespoons of cold water, a little at a time, mixing quickly with a fork until the dough just holds in a ball. The cook who has a light touch in making pastry takes care to mix the flour and lard quickly, using a small amount of water.

To make the turnovers, roll the dough to ¼ inch thickness and cut into 6-inch squares.

To make the filling, peel and slice 6 medium apples and combine with 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ cup sugar. Place ¼ cup apple mixture in the center of each square of pastry and dot apples with 1½ teaspoons butter or margarine for each square. Fold the corners of the pastry to the center, moisten corners and pinch together so that the apple slices are covered.

Place the turnovers on a greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) for 35 to 40 minutes or until nicely browned.

For a smooth, delicious lemon sauce to serve over the turnovers, mix together 1 cup sugar and 2 tablespoons cornstarch. Add 2 cups boiling water and 3 tablespoons butter or margarine. Mix thoroughly. Boil for one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from the heat. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice and stir well.

BEEF STEW IS GOOD DISH

Stew—meat cut in small pieces and cooked with vegetables—is a food combination well known throughout the world. Under a variety of names, such as ragout, goulash, even chop suey, it is an international favorite, and good cooks pride themselves on their ability to prepare it well.

American cooks rank second to Tender, spicy apple turnovers are something more than an ordinary dessert when served with lemon-butter sauce. You make them even more dramatic if you serve them a la mode.

none when it comes to turning out delicious stews. They have beef, veal and lamb to choose from and they have a variety of vegetables, fresh and frozen, available throughout the year.

One of the reasons why stew is so popular with today's busy homemakers is that it is easy to prepare and to serve. It is the main course for a "one-dish" meal.

Another reason for serving stew regularly is that it offers a good way to balance the food budget since the less-demanded, therefore usually more economical, cuts of meat are used. These are full of flavor and the method of cooking makes them tender and juicy. The flavor of the meat is extended to the vegetables, making them even more appealing.

One secret of success in making stew is to cook the meat at a simmering temperature, never allowing the cooking liquid to come to the boiling point. Another is to add the vegetables just long enough before the meat is done so that they are not overcooked.

Most cooks prefer to brown the meat before adding water. This is especially desirable when beef is used. The browning enhances the flavor and gives the stew a richer, browner look.

A substantial stew is one consisting of beef, potatoes, carrots and Brussels sprouts. Combine ¼ cup

The thrifty homemaker puts beef pot-roast on her shopping list often. But her family will never complain of sameness in her menus if she takes advantage of the many different cuts of beef suitable for cooking as a pot-roast.

Perennial favorites for economical and satisfying pot-roasts are cuts from the chuck. These are the arm and blade pot-roasts.

A different cut which makes an excellent pot-roast is sirloin tip. This is cut from a tender section. When it is from high quality flour, 2 teaspoons salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Dredge 2 pounds of boneless beef for stew in this seasoned flour. Brown meat in 3 tablespoons lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add 2 cups water. Cover tightly and cook slowly for 2 hours. Add 6 medium potatoes and 6 small whole carrots. Simmer an additional 30 minutes. Add 1 package (10 ounces) frozen Brussels sprouts and continue cooking about 20 minutes or until vegetables are done and meat is tender. Remove meat and vegetables to serving bowl or platter. Add water to cooking liquid to make 2 cups. Thicken liquid with ¼ cup flour for gravy.

Sirloin Tips Make Excellent Pot Roasts

A fine pot-roast is the boneless cut from the sirloin tip of beef. It is easy to carve and will provide generous servings. It is a good choice for either family or company meals. Serve it with dumplings for a special occasion.

beef, it may contain enough marbling of fat so that it can be cooked by roasting. However this cut is usually best cooked by braising, that is as a pot-roast.

First brown the meat on all sides in a small amount of lard

Ground beef suggests a variety of meat dishes to many homemakers. Easily prepared, it can be served as a meat loaf, patties, meat balls, or cooked as a meat sauce with spaghetti or noodles, as a stuffing for cabbage, green peppers and other vegetables and in casserole combinations.

The appetizing flavor of ground beef is accompanied by many food nutrients. It is an excellent source of high quality protein, iron and vitamins, especially where there are growing children. The teen-ager's love for thick, satisfying hamburgers is paralleled by a real need for this health-giving food.

Another advantage of using ground beef often in the menu is that it is economical, an excellent budget-balancer.

Beef patties, broiled to a rich, appetizing brown hue, can be served with pride at any meal. One can give them a touch of style by wrapping each patty in a bacon strip. The bacon helps the patties hold their shape and adds its own flavor to the meat.

Ground Beef Makes Variety Of Dishes

Beef patties are given a touch of elegance when wrapped in bacon strips and served with broiled tomato halves. Mixed fruit salad is also a menu item.

A mixed grill of beef patties appearance as well as satisfying and vegetables is appetizing in It makes any meal a bit festive.

time if needed. Braising time for pot-roasts is from 3 to 4 hours for cuts weighing 3 to 5 pounds. The meat may be cooked on top of the range or in a slow oven.

Vegetables may be cooked with the meat during the last 30 to 45 minutes of the cooking time. Dumplings are also excellent accompaniments for pot-roast. They are cooked in the liquid after the meat is removed.

For something a little different and a real treat, try parsley corn meal dumpling. To make the dumplings, measure ¾ cup sifted enriched flour and ¼ cup corn meal. Sift with 1½ teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. For extra flavor and a touch of color add 1 tablespoon minced parsley. Combine 1 egg and ½ cup milk and add to the dry ingredients. Mix only enough to moisten the flour mixture.

When the pot-roast is done, remove it to a hot platter. Drop the dumpling mixture by spoonfuls into the cooking liquid. Cover tightly and steam for 15 minutes.

Quickly cooked vegetables, such as tomatoes, are good with beef patties, or cooked vegetables, for instance potatoes or carrots, may be reheated as part of a mixed grill.

To prepare 6 beef patties for broiling, shape 1½ pounds ground beef into patties 1 inch thick. Wrap a strip of bacon around each patty, fastening it with a wooden pick. Set regulator for broiling. Place patties on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so that the top surface of the patties is about 3 inches from the heat. Broil on one side until browned, 8 to 10 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Turn patties and place tomato halves, cut side up, on the broiler rack with the meat. Continue broiling until patties are browned and tomatoes are cooked, about 8 minutes. Season.

A tossed salad of green vegetables or a mixed fruit salad makes a good accompaniment. This is a substantial menu for a special luncheon and with the addition of another vegetable is hearty enough for dinner.

Festive Baked Ham

A baked whole ham is a fine main dish for any occasion, appetizing, easy to carve and providing generous portions for a large group. Spiced crabapples are a complimentary garnish.

Hams these days come in a variety of sizes and styles. There are hams with the bone in, semi-boneless and boneless. There are whole hams, half hams, quarter hams and other size pieces. Some hams on the market are fully-cooked. Others require cooking before they are served. Then there is a variety of sizes of canned hams which, of course, are cooked.

A whole ham is easy to cook and is a regal looking main dish, providing a number of generous servings. Depending on the servings eaten at the first meal, there is usually left-over ham to be sliced cold for sandwiches or to become the main ingredient of meat salads or casserole dishes.

To bake a smoked ham, place it fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert the meat thermometer so the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part, taking care that the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (300° F.) until the meat thermometer registers 160° F. Allow 18 to 20 minutes per pound for a whole ham, 22 to 25 minutes per pound for a half ham.

To give ham a festive appearance, many homemakers like to stud it with cloves and spread a glaze over it.

For an easily prepared and attractive glaze, mix together $\frac{1}{2}$ cup brown sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup flour, 1 teaspoon dry mustard and $\frac{1}{4}$ cup vinegar. Spread the glaze over the ham about 20 to 30 minutes before the ham is done. Return to oven to finish cooking and to set the glaze.

For a surprising flavor combination to accompany baked ham, serve banana sauce. To prepare this sauce mash 2 ripe bananas until smooth. Add $\frac{2}{3}$ cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon horseradish and 2 teaspoons finely chopped parsley. Mix well. Serve with either hot or cold ham. This recipe makes 1 to $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups of sauce.

Canadian Style Bacon

Sliced Canadian-style bacon tops hot German potato salad for a gourmet entree. It's more than a "meat and potatoes" combination—it's a blend of delightful flavors to please the palate.

Canadian-style bacon is cut from the smoked boneless loin of pork and is almost entirely lean meat. It may be roasted or baked in one piece or sliced and broiled, pan-broiled or panfried.

Popular on the breakfast menu, Canadian-style bacon is also a good choice as the main dish at luncheon or dinner. It is easily prepared and, being boneless, is particularly easy to carve.

Fully cooked Canadian-style bacon is available in some markets and may be served cold or just heated through for serving hot.

To panbroil Canadian-style bacon, place bacon in frying pan which has been lightly brushed with fat. Do not add water. Do not cover. Cook over low heat, turning occasionally. Cook until lightly browned on both sides.

To roast or bake, place Canadian-style bacon on a rack in an open roasting pan. Roast in a slow oven (300° F. to 325° F.) allowing approximately $1\frac{1}{2}$ hours for a 2-pound piece and $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours for a 4-pound piece.

To broil, place Canadian-style bacon on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so that the bacon is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Broil on one side until nicely browned, then turn and broil second side. The total time for broiling Canadian-style bacon is from 6 to 8 minutes for slices $\frac{1}{4}$ inch thick and 8 to 10 minutes if they are $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thick.

Canadian-style bacon can be served in combination with other foods to enhance their flavor. Corn, asparagus, green or baked bean casseroles are a few that are good partners for Canadian-style bacon.

For luncheon, a casserole combination of Canadian-style bacon and potato salad is a satisfying main dish. Use your favorite hot potato salad recipe. Cut $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thick bacon slices in half. Spoon hot potato salad into casserole dish and place bacon slices on the salad. Place in a slow oven (325° F.) and bake for 20 minutes or until bacon is lightly browned.

Breakfast On Sausage Links And Pancakes

One way to begin the day right is to eat a good breakfast. The importance of a substantial breakfast which "sticks to the ribs" is emphasized by the most modern nutrition experts.

However, in today's busy world, breakfast on five or six mornings a week is apt to be a "quickie." But on days when one doesn't have to race with the clock, this first meal of the day can be a leisurely and more elaborate one.

Sausage links and pancakes are breakfast favorites any time; and for a new "twist" on those special mornings, try combining them as Sausage Whirls, with the sizzling brown sausages wrapped in dainty, thin pancakes.

These Sausage Whirls are fine for serving to family or guests for Sunday breakfast or "brunch," for they can be cooked ahead of time and kept warm in the oven.

To cook pork sausage links, place them in a cold frying-pan. Add 2 tablespoons of water. Cover the frying-pan tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Then remove the cover and brown the links, turning them occasionally.

Use your favorite pancake recipe or mix for the pancakes. They should be thin and just large enough—about 3½ inches in diameter—to wrap around the sausage links.

For a special sauce to serve with them, melt 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine in a sauce-pan and add ¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate and ½ cup honey. Heat thoroughly and serve the honey-orange sauce over Sausage Whirls.

Fresh pork sausage can also be used in an appetizing sausage-pancake combination. Shape 1 pound sausage into 8 patties, with 2 tablespoons water in cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Remove cover. Pour off drippings and brown the patties. Top each pancake with a sausage patty and then top each patty with another pancake. Serve hot with fruit sauce, honey-butter, or maple syrup.

Rinse out the skillet in which you have fried hamburgers with a little boiling water and extra seasoning and pour over the meat.

Pork sausage links, brown and sizzling, are served in little pancakes to make a substantial breakfast dish. Top them with syrup or a fruit sauce to score a success.

CUT OF VEAL ADDS VARIETY

Homemakers who are looking for variety in their menus will find veal a welcome addition to their list of meats. Tender and delicate in flavor, veal can be served in combination with a wide variety of foods. It can be a welcome change to add interest to family meals and will be the center of interest when entertaining guests.

Since veal is the meat of the young beef animal, it is tender but usually has less marbling of fat than is found in beef cuts. For this reason it is best when cooked slowly in moist heat to assure its tenderness and juiciness and to develop its good flavor.

The large cuts of veal are suitable for roasting but veal steaks and chops are best cooked by braising. A favorite way of cooking veal steaks is to bread them, that is to dip the pieces in beaten egg, then in fine bread crumbs before they are browned in lard or drippings. This is a good way to keep them moist and to add flavor.

Veal is often served in combination with a variety of sauces. Veal and sour cream seem to have special affinity. A sauce which blends sour cream with peanut butter is especially good. You'll find it easy to make and very rewarding.

To prepare this dish, have two veal steaks cut ½ inch thick. Cut each steak into 3 pieces and pound to about ¼ inch thickness. Dip the pieces into beaten egg, then into ½ cup of fine dry bread crumbs. Brown in ½ cup lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season steaks with salt and pepper. Add 1 bay leaf, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, ½ cup water and ½ teaspoon garlic salt. Cover tightly and simmer 45 minutes.

At the end of the cooking time, remove the steaks to a warm platter. Discard the bay leaf. Add ½ cup water to the cooking liquid and stir in ½ cup peanut butter. Fold in 1 cup dairy sour cream and cook only until the sauce is heated through. Pour

HURRICANE BLOWING OFF OVER OCEAN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hurricane Esther, downgraded to a tropical storm, headed on out to sea Friday. Her center never touched the American mainland.

The Boston Weather Bureau Thursday night reported she was traveling northeasterly into the Atlantic with a center wind velocity of less than 70 miles per hour. The Canadian maritime provinces, alerted for any big blow, were told to expect winds of only 40 m.p.h. and a fair amount of rainfall.

Esther inflicted much less damage than expected, and no deaths directly attributable to the storm were reported.

An alert along the entire East coast of the United States was kept over the meat and sprinkle peanuts on top.

ern Seaboard aided considerably. Most of the damage was caused by high winds which blew down trees and power lines, by high coastal tides, and by flooding due to heavy rainfall.

New England, remembering the devastating hurricane of 1938, girded for heavy damage. But Esther veered to sea when it appeared she would make her first landfall at Cape Cod.

Among the Cape Codders evacuated were President Kennedy's two children, Caroline, 3, and John Jr., 9 months. They were taken from Hyannis Port, Mass., to Otis Air Force Base.

First appearing in Boston in August 7, 1721, the New-England Courant was the first American newspaper established in any colony which openly opposed recognized leaders of the time.

Orange Date Tarts Are Delicious

As good as they look are these star-shaped tarts, filled with a delicious fruit mixture. They are suggested as an elegant dessert for your next party.

A beautiful dessert can be the highlight of a party menu. What could be more attractive than tarts filled with a colorful fruit mixture arranged, on a buffet table, or served as the finale of a dainty party luncheon? The unusual shape of the tarts shown is achieved through the use of aluminum foil.

Whatever their shape, tender, flaky crusts are the prime feature of good tarts. To obtain this, good cooks use lard as their preferred shortening.

Before preparing pastry for the tart shells, cut aluminum foil into 8 circles, each 5 inches in diameter. (The cover of any 1 or 2 pound coffee can may be used to outline the circles.)

To prepare tart shells, mix together 2 cups sifted enriched flour and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ cup lard into the flour until the crumbs are the size of small peas. Add 4 to 6 tablespoons cold water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through the flour with a fork until the dough just holds in a ball. (It is important to use the least amount of water and to mix it quickly.) Roll pastry to about $\frac{1}{8}$ inch thickness; place the

LEARN MEAT CUTS TO SAVE YOUR BUDGET

One of the most effective ways to keep the food budget in line is to become acquainted with the wide variety of meat cuts. In that way you can make use of the less demanded and usually more economical cuts. You also give variety to your menus and gain valuable experience in cooking.

Lamb, which is available now all seasons in many markets, offers many new menu items to those homemakers who may not realize the variety of cuts from which they may choose. Leg of baking pan and bake in a very hot oven (450° F.) for 10 to 12 minutes. Remove foil from pastry and set tart shells aside to cool.

To make Orange-Date Filling, grate 2 teaspoons of orange rind. Peel 2 oranges and cut into fourths. Grind together orange pieces and $\frac{1}{4}$ cups pitted dates. In a saucepan, combine $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 tablespoon flour and $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt. Stir in 1 cup orange juice. Add the ground oranges and dates, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened, 5 to 8 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine. Chill thoroughly. Just before serving, whip $\frac{1}{2}$ cup whipping cream until stiff. Reserve a small amount to dot the top of each tart and fold remaining cream into fruit mixture. Spoon filling into the baked tart shells. Garnish with reserved whipped cream. Chill until serving time.

lamb and loin lamb chops are usually well known but shoulder lamb chops, tender and flavorful, are sometimes overlooked. Yet these are often economy buys.

Two kinds of shoulder chops are the arm chops, with the small round bone and cross sections of 4 to 5 rib bones, and the blade chops, with portions of the blade bone and of rib and back bones. To broil the chops, place them on the broiler rack and insert pan and rack so that the top of 1-inch chops is 2 to 3 inches from the heat and top of 2-inch chops is 3 to 5 inches from the heat. When one side is browned, season, turn and finish cooking on the second side. Season. Chops cut 1 inch thick require 10 to 12 minutes. Those cut 2 inches thick require 20 to 22 minutes.

For a festive touch, you might glaze lamb chops by spreading

To broil shoulder chops, brown them in lard or drippings. Pour off the drippings and season the chops with salt and pepper. Add a small amount of water, not over $\frac{1}{2}$ cup. Cover tightly and cook slowly 30 to 45 minutes or until chops are done.

For a special treat try Cranberry Lamb Chops. Combine $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon ground cloves, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon cinnamon, 1 can (16 ounces) whole cranberry sauce and $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water. Brown the chops on both sides. Pour off drippings. Pour cranberry sauce mixture over the chops, cover tightly and cook slowly for 45 minutes. Remove chops to a warm platter. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water to the cooking liquid and thicken liquid with 1 tablespoon flour. Serve over chops.

Heart, In Several Delicious Dishes

For a new adventure in cooking, turn your attention to the variety meats, heart, liver, sweetbreads and kidney. All of these are high in nutritive value, providing essential vitamins as well as protein.

Liver is known as an outstanding source of iron in the diet, and heart also ranks high in this essential food element. Beef and veal hearts, besides being very nutritious, add variety to the menu.

Heart can be served in several delicious dishes. The best way to cook it is in moist heat, at low temperature, as a pot-roast is cooked. It can also be cut into small cubes and cooked with vegetables as a stew.

A recipe which comes from the South is Heart Creole, an unusual and very appetizing way to prepare beef or veal heart. This tasty dish would be a good hot dish for a buffet supper. It is sure to win many compliments for the hostess who makes it her "specialty of the house."

To prepare Heart Creole, wash 1 beef heart or 2 veal hearts. Remove the hard parts. Cut heart into 3/4-inch cubes. Dredge in 1/4 cup flour seasoned with 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Brown cubes in 1/4 cup lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Drain 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, reserving the mushroom liquid. Add mushroom liquid, 1/4 cup finely chopped onion, 1 clove garlic, minced, and 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes to the browned heart cubes. Cover tightly and simmer 1 hour and 15 minutes. Add mushrooms, 1/4 cup thin green pepper strips, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley and 1 teaspoon sugar. Cover and continue simmering 15 minutes or until heart is tender and vegetables are done.

Serve this Heart Creole over fluffy cooked rice, and you'll have a dish your family will call for again and again! A tossed green salad or lettuce wedges, French bread or bread sticks and chilled pear halves for dessert would complete a well-balanced menu.

Ever serve a bouquet of fruit sherberts for a party dessert? Choose from favorite flavors: Orange, pineapple, raspberry, lime and lemon.

Here's a familiar blend of ingredients combined with heart for a new meat dish—Heart Creole. Served on a bed of rice with bread sticks and green salad, it provides an appealing menu.

VICTIM SAID ROBBERY WAS LARGE AMOUNT

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A state police officer has testified at the burglary trial of one-time chorus girl Lillian Reis that the victim of the theft agreed a large amount of money had been stolen from a safe in his home.

Jesse Stanton, a state police lieutenant, testified for the Commonwealth Thursday that he told John B. Rich, a wealthy Pottsville coal operator, that authorities believed $478,000 in cash was stolen.

Stanton said he interviewed Rich after the 1959 burglary which Miss Reis is accused of masterminding. The lieutenant quoted Rich as saying: "Not quite that much."

Stanton testified the question of how much was stolen was put to Rich three times but he could not say whether the total was $200,000, $300,000 or more.

REPORTS $20,500

Rich had testified Tuesday and earlier this year at the trial of three men who were convicted in the burglary that some $3,500 in cash and $17,000 in jewelry had been stolen in the bizarre theft which authorities claim later led the gangland slayings of two brothers.

Stanton also had testified at the trials of Robert Poulson, John Berkery and Ralph Staino Jr., all of whom are free on bail pending appeals for new trials. But Thursday was the first time he had testified that Rich had agreed a large sum was stolen.

Stanton also testified — for the first time — that Rich had a conversation with Richard Blaney, Blaney, a police informer, was killed by a bomb planted in his car last July after he had been the Commonwealth's star witness at the trials of the three men who were convicted.

WAS STATE WITNESS

Blaney was not accused in the burglary. He gave testimony at the earlier trials based on what he said were conversations with his brother, Vincent, who was charged in the theft. Vincent was shot to death in 1960 before he could be brought to trial in what police said was a move to keep him from turning state's evidence.

Asked about Blaney and Rich said during their conversations, Stanton testified:

Says Space Travel Is Military Role

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Air Force said Friday that interplanetary space is a military medium—one in which the Air Force must have a dominating role.

Gen. B. A. Schriever, chief of the systems command, said the first space weapon—the intercontinental ballistic missile—inevitably will be followed "more quickly than some people realize," by new weapons potentially more destructive.

"For this reason the aerospace force of tomorrow must be able to operate in space and to detect and counter any threat in that arena," Schriever said.

Gen. William F. McKee, chief of the logistics command, disclosed that that agency already is planning air materiel depots to be stationed in space and on other planets "where needed and when prudent."

Stanton testified:

"Mostly Mr. Rich nodding his head when Blaney told him how sorry he was that he had been robbed."

Loin Section Of Pork Is Very Popular

In any poll of favorite foods, roast pork is certain to be right up in front with the winners. The fine flavor and tenderness of a pork roast assure it of a hearty welcome whenever it appears on the table.

The loin section of pork is the preference of many homemakers when selecting a cut for roasting. Especially convenient and easy to serve is the boned loin. The backbone and rib bones are removed from this roast at the market. Then the boneless halves are tied together. The roast contains a good proportion of lean meat. It is easy to carve, and there is no waste.

Boneless pork loin is cooked like any other pork roast. Place the roast on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert the meat thermometer so that the bulb reaches the thickest part of the roast. Do not cover. Do not add water. Roast in a moderate oven (350° F.) until the meat thermometer registers 185° F. This will require from 3 1/2 to 4 hours for a 4- to 5-pound boneless roast. Allow about 40 minutes per pound for roasting. Pork roast should always be cooked to the well-done stage.

Fruit is always a good com-

This enticing pork roast is cut from the boned and rolled loin. Easy to carve and convenient to serve, it is a "star" on any menu. Cling peach halves with blueberry centers form a colorful garnish.

panion for pork, as the ever-popular apple sauce and pork combination indicates. But apples are not the only fruits which blend their flavor deliciously with pork.

A pretty as well as flavorful garnish for a pork roast is formed by cling peach halves filled with colorful berries — blueberries, raspberries, or strawberries.

A fruit-flavored glaze is another suggestion for adding that something different touch to roast pork. One glaze is made by combining 1/2 cup apricot preserves,

2 teaspoons dry mustard and 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Mix ingredients well. Spread the glaze over the meat about 20 to 30 minutes before the end of the roasting time. Return the roast to the oven and cook until the meat is done and the glaze is set.

Braised Beef Round Steak Pleases Family

When you want meaty, satisfying fare, braised beef round steak is a good choice. The round may be sold as "full cut" round or divided into the top or bottom round sections.

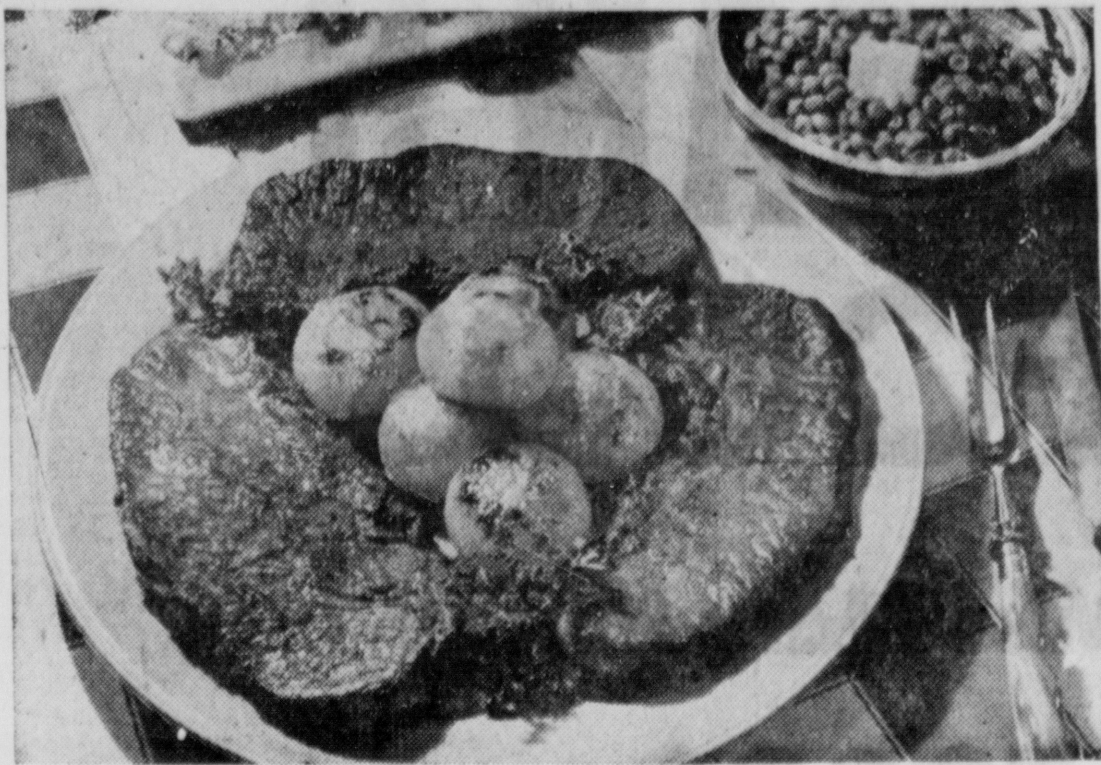

Braising — browning, then cooking slowly in moist heat — results in meat that is tender and juicy. Braising brings out the full flavor of the meat, a flavor which can be extended to vegetables cooked with it and, to the gravy served as an accompaniment.

To make 5 to 6 servings of braised round steak, purchase 3 beef top round steaks cut about 3/4 inch thick, or a "full cut" beef round steak of the same thickness. Cut steak into 5 or 6 pieces. Combine 1/4 cup flour and 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper and pound this seasoned flour into the steaks. Brown steaks on both sides in 1/4 cup lard or drippings. If desired, steaks need not be dredged in seasoned flour. They are then seasoned with salt and pepper after browning. Pour off drippings. Add 1/2 to 1 cup water, bouillon or vegetable juice. Cover the pan tightly and cook slowly 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until meat is tender.

Vegetables, such as onions, carrots and green beans, may be cooked with the meat. Vegetables cooked whole will require about 45 minutes cooking time. Add vegetables to meat after meat has cooked 1 hour.

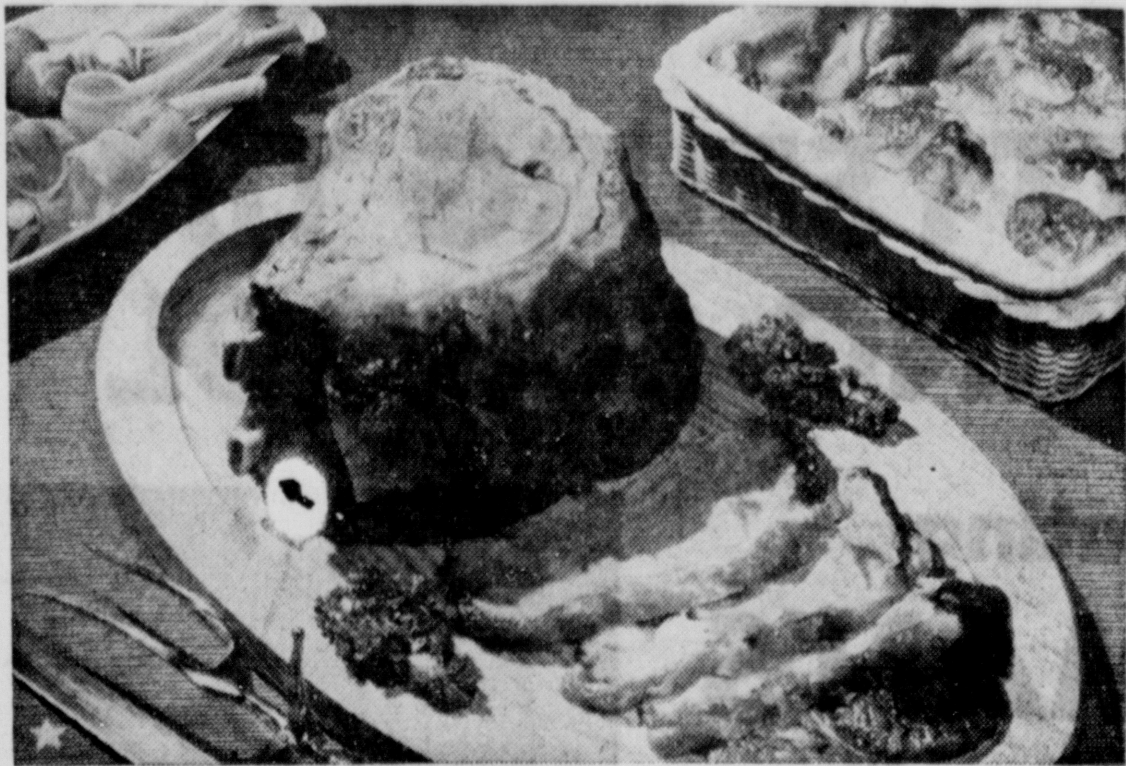

When meat and vegetables are done, place them on a warm platter. Add sufficient water to the cooking liquid for gravy. Thicken the liquid with flour, using 2 tablespoons flour for each cup of cooking liquid.

Round steak cooked with mushrooms is another tempting variation. Prepare round steak as for braised round steak. After browning, pour off drippings. Add 1/4 cup water, cover tightly and cook slowly about 1 hour. Add 1 pound fresh mushrooms or 1 can (4 ounces) button mushrooms, cover and continue cooking about 30 minutes or until meat is tender. Remove steaks, add 1 1/2 cups milk and thicken liquid with flour for gravy, stirring constantly until gravy is cooked.

Steak cut from the beef round and braised with whole onions present a pleasing combination.

Rib Roast Is Aristocrat Of Dishes

Beef standing rib roast is a fine choice as a main dish for any occasion. Yorkshire pudding is a traditional accompaniment.

An aristocrat of beef dishes is the standing rib roast. This cut is a favorite as a main dish for family meals, anniversary dinners or when entertaining your most special guests.

A beef roast is a tender cut and so easy to prepare. A 2 or 3-rib roast will provide several generous servings, the number of course depending upon the weight of the roast. A good guide is to allow 1/2 to 1/3 pound uncooked meat for each serving. It is easy to prepare because you simply place the roast in the oven and cook it, at a low temperature, until it reaches the degree of doneness you prefer.

To make the roast easier to carve, have the chine bone removed at the market.

Place the roast, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so that the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part. Be sure that the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (300° F.) to the desired degree of doneness. Allow 18 to 20 minutes per pound for cooking a rare roast; 22 to 25 minutes for medium and 27 to 30 minutes per pound for well done.

A favorite accompaniment for roast beef is Yorkshire Pudding. Many families reserve this combination for meals during Christmas and New Year's holidays, but it is good at any season.

Yorkshire Pudding is cooked in the drippings after the roast has been removed. Since a beef roast

"DR. KILDARE" TO HAVE SHOW ON TELEVISION

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dick Chamberlain, poor lad, doesn't know what he's in for.

He walks around like a normal human being, happy with the world, well-adjusted.

All this will change next Thursday.

Chamberlain, 26, is the 1961 Dr. Kildare, starring in the TV version of the hospital stories beginning next week.

INHERITS STALE JOKES

That means he inherits not only Lew Ayres' scalpel and sterile togs, but all the stale jokes as well.

"Calling Dr. Kildare." Remember all the gags that started that way?

"Already people are coming up and complaining of a pain here or there," the actor admitted. "It gets to be somewhat of a bore. The only answer I have is to prescribe a Mediterranean cruise."

Chamberlain is a Los Angeles boy, son of a manufacturer. After Army service in Korea, he studied voice and drama and landed a few roles in TV films. He starred in an MGM Western pilot film that failed to sell, but that didn't stop producer Herbert Hirschman from tapping him for Dr. Kildare.

Homemade Bomb Found On Porch

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A homemade bomb was found Thursday on a porch of a nearby McKeesport home, police said.

They said the device containing eight sticks of dynamite was found at the house of Edward G.

film that failed to sell, but that didn't stop producer Herbert Hirschman from tapping him for Dr. Kildare.

NO PAGING

The movie series ran to 13 features and helped spawn such stars as Red Skelton, Van Johnson and Laraine Day. "Calling Dr. Kildare" (1939) was the most famous of the films and the title became a national phrase.

"We're being careful not to use the paging system in the TV series," said Hirschman. "Whenever Dr. Kildare gets a call, it's on the telephone."

Darling by his father-in-law, Aaron Horvitz.

Officers said neither Darling nor Horvitz could give an explanation for the bomb.

Darling was fined $1,000 and put on three years probation in 1957 after pleading guilty to charges of receiving stolen goods in connection with a $16,829 jewel theft at Scarsdale, N. Y.

The bomb was turned over to an Army bomb disposal squad from Greensburg.

DIES FROM BURNS

OIL CITY, Pa. (AP)—A water heater tank explosion has taken the life of Perry H. Smart, 68, of Mansfield, Ohio.

He died Thursday in Oil City Hospital from burns suffered in the explosion at his cottage near the town of President on Sept. 12.
